This article by Chronicle Society Writer, Christine D'Arc, calls for all girls to show off their dresses and accessories for the Junior Prom, saying, "Close at hand is one of the very few opportunities for us to show the fellows that we do have something in our wardrobe besides rolled-up levis and ragged sleeved sweatshirts." D'Arc also gives ideas for outfits to match the French theme.

Prom's Significance? Read Between Lines by Charles Akerlow

A satirical article by Chronicle Staff Writer, Charles Akerlow's Junior Prom experience. The theme was "A Midnight on Ostrov Vrangelya." The night consisted of a strictly no-light ballroom with "Vrangelyan" treats. The treats included whale blubber and Fig Newtons. Attendees also participated in a Vrangelyan pastime. This included beating on the floor to wake up the mythical god Marduk. Akerlow then points fun at 61's theme calling it the Meeting at Hyannisport.
