“How ‘Bout A Bus...”: The proposition from the United Arab Republic, sponsored by Foreign Student Leadership Program (FLSP), was that a bus owned by the ASUU be used for student University trips. The only bus owned by the University, “Gray Goose” is for residence hall transportation only, and “circa 1940 bus” is not functional for student travel. The benefits of the proposition would be that the bus would be a more efficient and economical way of travel, larger groups of students could attend tournaments and conventions with just one transportation, it’s more safe, and it would make possible activities for student groups which could not afford to rent a bus. Fund for the bus could be from donation by the senior class or regular ASUU funds.

“The Model ‘T,’” by Ernie Ford: The Chronicle Editor-in-Chief, Ernie Ford wants to talk about the problems of a much-abused and much-misunderstood organ of student government which is the ASUU Senate. The problem of Senate made up of class representatives is that the present arrangement gives active students more representatives than non-active students. The other problem is that class senators have in contacting their constituents. Senators could be elected according to colleges. The idea is worth a try, so that it could create a major tidal wave of interest in student government.

“Tragedy Hits Balloonist; Space Flight Set Today,” by United Press International: One of the balloonists was killed during pickup operations in the Gulf of Mexico. There is more than a 50-50 chance that the first American to soar into space should be on his way around 8 a.m. today. Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said Thursday he believes President Kennedy would send out U.S. troops to save South Viet Nam from Red conquest.
