“Quick Critics. . .”

The results of a big popularity contest of the year are coming soon. Condolences to those who feel they deserved it. Should the student body feel shame about who managed to win this contest the students have no one but themselves to blame. Any student feeling competent enough to criticize the decisions after they have been made should feel the same way before the election. If students feel strongly about the results of their elections they should take an interest in the elections and vote.

“Awards, Awards . . .”

The Associated Men Students gathered a year of activity and presented their annual awards to outstanding men on campus. Students were reviewed in their participation in student government, publications, athletics, and other University interest. Four men received the citizenship award, 12 students became members of Skull and Bones, and nine senior men joined Owl and Key. The names of these students were not listed here.

“The White Paper” by Dennis White

An account of anti-westernism in the Middle East. Dennis White argues that western values could destroy the ancient faith by which men have lived for centuries. He also states that Islam’s representation of the infidel is depicted as the westerner. Because of the amount of western settlers into Israel and the way the state was created. The Arabs will not consider it a part of the Middle East but rather an intruder to their lands.
