“Apathy In Disguise...”: Although last week’s primary elections brought out a record vote, attendance at campaign forums Wednesday and Thursday was next to nothing. There were also frequent violations of election rules.

“Campaign Forum: NSA Candidates”: Ahead, National Student Congress (NSA) Candidates explain their platforms. Ray Bramble: I will strive to educate the students, enlighten myself with campus issues that students are concerned with, represent the student body as a whole, and effect greater student participation in relation to NSA activities. Jim Bromley: I have lived and studied abroad and learned from students of different nationalities about student concerns and interests. There is a need for mature representation in the NSA, which can be accomplished by having a wider range of speakers, expansion of the NSA library, an informed voice with legislative experience in the Senate, dissemination of information through the Chronicle, and utilizing the resources of the NSA for campus use. Lee Case: We must increase student interest and awareness. This can be accomplished by having panels and speakers, the Senate for expressing student opinion, the national goals project, increased appropriation of money for our school by the state. Gayle Muhlestein: I think I could develop a program that would help overcome student apathy. I’m concerned with our curriculum, and how we are taught to understand non-western culture, and develop a realistic picture of the outside world. How well is our University fulfilling our educational needs?

“Letters To The Editor,” by Election Committee: Mel Nelson, Pat Starwich, Kay Walker, Norm Bramble: Dear Editor: This letter explains to students what the Election committee does and has done, and what future plans are. The voting booth was initiated to increase student voting, making our student government more representative. There was no ulterior motive in the selection of times and locations for the traveling booth. However, the committee will admit the apportioned time for the voting booth on fraternity row may have been important. This issue will be rectified in the final elections.

“ASUU, NSA Candidate Platforms...”: Jeff Circuit, ASUU Presidential candidate, urges for diversity in testing, to avoid cheating. Jon West, ASUU President candidate, urges for the people to people program. Bob Clark, ASUU 1st Vice Presidential candidate, will push for an increase in the number of student representatives in each student-faculty committee. Lynn Davidson, ASUU 1st Vice Presidential candidate, urges more participation in student activity and international student week. Jim McBride, ASUU 2nd Vice Presidential candidate, wants better communication and greater communication. Margo Taylor, ASUU 2nd Vice Presidential candidate, wants to make class officers a liaison between the students they represent and the Executive Council.

Letters to the Editor:

“New Candidate,” by Nick J. Pappas: A large movement has begun in support of a write-in candidate for ASUU President: Jim Babcock. More than two men should run for President in the primaries.

“Qualified,” by Bonnie Bauer, Carmen Boyden, Colleen Makin: Nancy Marriott is the right choice for AWS vice president.

“Misstatement,” by Bob Pexton: We should focus on motivating the students to go to the Union or Annex to vote, rather than bringing the vote to them with the traveling voting booth.

Articles:

“Veep Calls Buidling List ‘Essential’ In Senate Talk,” by Ernest Ford: Business Vice Pres. Paul Hodson deemed a $31 million dollar construction program, submitted by the University to state legislature, as “essential.” Hodson urged to ASUU Senators that departments are far too isolated between buildings, and the construction program could fix this problem. Dave Jensen, ASUU Senate chairman, introduced a list of proposed buildings and budget to the Senate April 4.

“Senate Votes Support To Elections Committee”: The ASUU Senate voiced approval for the Election Committee’s handling of three points. One was the initiation of the new traveling voting booths. Second was the increasing student interest in elections. Third, they approved the traveling booth as an “impartial and efficient manner.” Mel Nelson, election committee chairman, warned that students caught trying to influence voters outside of booths will be prosecuted in student court.

“Vote Accounts Due”

“Lawyer-Economist Readies Speech Before U Crowd”: Dr. James Joyce will present the topic “Challenge of Disarmament” Saturday at 8 p.m. in Orson Spencer Hall. He is a lawyer, economist, former secretary of the International Association for Labor Legislation, and has worked on products sponsored by the United Nations. He will also speak at an afternoon engagement at the University Club, and KSL Radio at 9 p.m. Monday night.

“Oriental Prof To Discuss Soviet Control In East”: Prof Bertold Spuler will present a lecture on “Central Asia Under Russian and Soviet Domination” Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Orson Spencer Hall auditorium. Dr. Spuler is the former dean of Philiosophical Faculty of Hamburg University and the current editor of Der Islam, Der Hanbuch der Orientalistik, and Porta Linguarum Orientalum. Dr. William L. “Last Word: ASUU Prexy Candidates”: Jon West: Student government should be likened to the controlling body of a professional organization, rather than municipal, state, or national governments. Jeff Circuit: I will support you fairly and see that we clear up problems in our government and its policies.

“The White Paper,” by Dennis White: Do nuclear weapons make mankind less civilized? Most likely yes. Unfortunately, the solution to this problem is not as simple as disarmament. Dr. Lincoln P. Bloomfield cited three paradoxes in the discussion of arms control. Firstly, we learned in the 30’s and 40’s that without a means to defend ourselves, ensuring peace is impossible. Secondly, we cannot unlearn the knowledge of the atom bomb. Thirdly, there are many variables in this question, making a simple solution impossible. Harold E. Strassen proposed a plan in which zones of the earth would be neutral zones, free from intervention of nuclear warfare.

Letters to the Editor:

“Misconception,” by Sue Stewart: Rumors have circulated campus that the role of ASUU personnel coordinator is that of a secretary and can only be occupied by a girl. These are false misconceptions.

“Frolic,” by Freshman Class Officers: An election victory dance will be held Thursday from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. The Villagers, a quartet of University men will entertain, and there will be dancing. Winners of elections will be announced by outgoing ASUU president Steve Brockbank. Tickets are 25-cents a person.
